VOL. III. RALEIGH, N. C., SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1867. NO. 51.

DAILY SENTINEL.

WM. E. PELL, PROPRIETOR.

A SECESSIONIST VIEW OF RECONSTRUCTION.

So far as the reconstruction laws are not a mere wanton exercise of arbitrary power, so far as they do not depend on the ancient and execrable principle that might makes right, their justification lies in the doctrine of secession. If the secession ordinances were valid, and the States pretending to secede did thereby become independent foreign governments, then the contest was not a civil but a foreign war, and the success of our arms gave us all those rights of conquest which appertain to a victorious nation by the body of usages known as international law. If the secession doctrine was sound, and the independence acquired in pursuance of it was real, it logically enough follows that Congress can prescribe rules for the government of a foreign territory which became ours by the right of conquest, and that the time and manner of the readmission of the seceded States to the Union, are subject to Congressional discretion. The Hon. Iverson L. Harris, one of the Judges of the Supreme Court of Georgia, has written a letter favoring submission to the prescribed conditions, and making the validity of the ordinances of secession the corner-stone of his argument. We copy enough to exhibit the line of reasoning:

"Now, I take it to be an undeniable fact, that Georgia, by the ordinance of her Convention in 1861, did dissolve her connection with the Federal Union, and renounce the Federal Constitution.

That act put Georgia out of the Federal Union.

I take it to be also an undeniable fact, that Georgia, as a State, has not been restored to her former position in the Federal Union.

This being so, she is still out of the Federal Union. What interest or property as a State, if my premises are right, she has in a Constitution which she solemnly renounced, and which has not been re extended over her as a State in the federal Union, and as it existed before her secession, I am at a loss to discover. Having none as a State, how can she, in reference to political rights and privileges, rightfully claim its benefits and protection?

Upon this view you will perceive that I utterly deny that there was a civil war in its legitimate sense—that we were rebels, traitors. A necessary consequence from this position is, that, upon the termination of hostilities, there can be no confiscation or amenability to the municipal laws of the conqueror.

The claim that the Constitution is ours, and that we have never parted with it, contains within it the fatal admission of our guilt as traitors.

"The status of Georgia, then, at this time," is that of a conquered State out of the federal Union.

If this is so, it is in the light only of the laws of nations that our situation can be properly considered.

It must, I think, be conceded by every jurist, whose reading has extended beyond Blackstone and the Constitution of the United States, that it is a settled and unquestionable doctrine of the laws of nations, that the conqueror, according to the customs of Christian civilized nations, may rule the State conquered at his will, as by moulding its political institutions to that will, with no other restrictions on his power than the customary usages of such nations.

The Congress of the United States from this source, and this alone, derived their power to pass the reconstruction acts; they do not spring from the exercise of enumerated and delegated powers to Congress, but from the power outside of the Constitution inherent in the victor.

Viewing those acts, then, in the light of terms imposed by the conqueror on the conquerors—and I am driven by a stern logic to look at them in that light, and in no other—so regarding them, I am called on to determine what line of conduct it is most expedient to pursue. I am compelled, also, to remember at the same time, that there is no earthly tribunal to which the conquered can appeal for remedy or redress. Are we not, then, by an inexorable necessity compelled to choose between acquiescing in those acts, or resistance? Would not the last be downright madness? The other alternative is the only thing left us."

If we could but concede the premises, we should be obliged to admit that this is soundly and ably reasoned. But it would be the most stupendous example of self-stultification in the history of the world, for the Northern people to admit the premises. True it is, that the Reconstruction acts can be justified on no other principle; but the North has expended too much blood and treasure in contesting the doctrine of secession to concede its validity now. If the South had a right to secede, and by secession became a foreign nation, we waged against it a most cruel and unjustifiable war, and conducted the war on false pretences from beginning to end. In entering upon the war, and during the whole course of its prosecution, we maintained that the ordinances of secession were nullities, of no more force than if they had never been passed. Our government was never weary of declaring, both to our own people and to foreign nations, that we were dealing merely with revolted citizens; and we carried this doctrine to such a length as to make it a ground of vehement accusation against Great Britain that she conceded to the South enough of a belligerent character to assume the position of a neutral. The whole tenor of the despatches sent from our State Department, and the whole tone of our public press, was in angry inculpation of the foreign powers for regarding the Confederates in any other light than that of citizens in insurrection against their lawful government. We refused, for a long while, to allow that the South had even the rights which appertain to the insurgent party in a civil war; refused for a long while even to exchange prisoners; and now, in brazen contradiction to our whole record, we insist on a method of restoration which involves a full indorsement of the right of secession, and is utterly indefensible on any other principle.—N. Y. World.

Nobody seems to know where Ex-Secretary Stanton is, but the discoveries made in his department since he left it show what he is.—Louisville Journal.

"NO MORE PRESIDENTS."—In a Radical procession in St. Louis, a few nights since, a banner was prominent which bore this inscription: "No more Presidents. Presidency the first step to despotism."

REACTION.—We can assure the people of Virginia that relief is coming from the right direction, and that radicalism will soon be put to death in the house of its friends.—Richmond Enquirer.

Expressions like the above are becoming frequent in Southern newspapers, but their truthfulness depends perhaps as much upon the department of the Southern people in the coming months as upon anything else. They must abstain from any course of action or use of language that can give ground of suspicion in regard to the genuineness of their professions of loyalty or that is capable of being perverted or misconstrued by reckless demagogues, for purposes of mischief.—Journal of Commerce, (N. Y.)

A GREAT TRUTH.—Nothing can be more repugnant, nothing more hostile, nothing more directly destructive, than excessive, unrestricted, and unconstitutional confidence in men; nothing worse than the doctrine that official agents may interpret the public will in their own way, in defiance of the Constitution and laws themselves; or that any public officer, high or low, should undertake to constitute himself, or call himself, the representative of the people, except so far as the Constitution and laws create and denominate him such representative.—Daniel Webster.

RALEIGH AND GASTON,

NORTH CAROLINA,

WESTERN NORTH CAROLINA,

WILMINGTON AND WELDON,

ATLANTIC AND NORTH CAROLINA,

WILMINGTON AND MANCHESTER,

CHARLOTTE AND SOUTH CAROLINA R. R.,

And their connections.

Time Quick and Rates Low.

THIS NEW TRUNK LINE FORMS A GREAT FREIGHT ROUTE between Baltimore and Weldon, Warrenton, Raleigh, Hillsboro', Lexington, Salisbury, Morganton, Charlotte, Lincolnton, Goldsboro', Newbern, Beaufort, Wilmington, Chesterville, Winnsboro', Columbia, Summerville, Manchester, and all intermediate points on and near these great Railways and their connections.

The Powhatan Steamers connect at Petersburg with Petersburg Railway for all points in the Carolinas. Cars are run alongside of Steamers' Wharf and goods transferred with careful handling. Cars are run through without breaking bulk between Petersburg and Raleigh, Charlotte, Goldsboro', Wilmington, &c., &c. This Inland Line possesses many advantages over a Sea Route. Marine risk is small and insurance is comparatively nothing. The Wharf of the Powhatan Steamers being situated in the very centre of the great shipping district of Baltimore, renders it convenient to shippers, and drayage is very small.

Great attention paid to consignments of Cotton, Corn, Wheat, Rosin, &c. &c. All produce forwarded at the lowest possible rates.

☞ To insure transportation over this Inland Fast Line, mark all goods, whether Northward or Southward bound, "VIA PETERSBURG."

☞ Freight landed in Baltimore day following delivery to the Steamers.

Through Receipts are given and fixed rate per 100 pounds guaranteed both ways

☞ Rates in every case same as via Bay Line and Portsmouth to and from Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York.

THE DOCTRINE OF SECESSION.

Our readers are aware that the Editors of this journal have never been secessionists, have always opposed the doctrine, could never find it in the Constitution, either expressed or implied, nor in the reason and fitness of things. Gentlemen all over the land, and many more thoroughly versed in constitutional learning than ourselves, and equally honest, have maintained the correctness of that doctrine even to the end.—We have no quarrel with any man for his political opinions, provided he has carefully sought to inform himself and honestly embraces them. There are many such among the late secessionists, who believed the doctrine and practiced upon it, but when the decision of the sword was in favor of Union principles, and the results of the war plainly and unequivocally declared the judgment of the majority of the American people to be decidedly against secession, they yielded the contest at once and submitted to that arbitrament. Hence we have always unequivocally claimed for all such, since the war, that they were as truly loyal and patriotic, as those holding our views. They are now friends of a Constitutional Union.

But there is a class of secessionists in the South, who, so far as we can see, prompted by motives of personal safety and ambition, still maintain the doctrine of secession, and justify thereby their endorsement of and affiliation with the Radical party. It is now perfectly plain that the Radical party is no longer the Union party. The real Union men of the country are friends of the Constitution—they are the advocates of a restoration or reconstruction according to the principles of the Constitution. They will submit to Radical measures while they are law, but their judgments and convictions are for a constitutional Union. The present programme of the Radical party—that the South is a conquered people and conquered territory, and that the Radical party, as represented by Congress, is the conqueror, and can do what it pleases, outside and above the Constitution,—is based entirely upon the figment of the right of secession. That is the fulcrum of Northern and Southern Radicals, and the consistency or propriety of Radicalism cannot be established upon any other ground.

At the close of the war, the sentiment was universal, that the war had killed the doctrine of secession—that the results of the war had shown its error and its futility—that the strength of the Union sentiment of the country had effectually subdued it, and that the Union had not been and could not be dissolved. The Radical party, in order to carry out its design of destroying the Republic, now takes ground which ignores that great sentiment and asserts that the Union was broken—that secession triumphed—that the "rebellious" States are out of the Union, and that they can only be brought back by the consent of the Radical party in the "loyal" States, and the friends of that party in the "rebel" States; that the people and territory of the late "rebel" States are conquered—are entirely subject to the Radical party, to be disposed of as they think fit—that those States must submit to negro supremacy, to the disfranchisement of the whites, and that the lands of the whites are the property and at the disposal of the Radical party. And yet Southern secessionists of the Radical stripe are ready to acquiesce in this opinion and in these measures. And all this, say they, because the doctrine of secession is true and was accomplished by the war!

We call the attention of the reader to the article on our first page from the New York World, in which it animadverts upon the views of one of these Radical secessionists,—Judge Harris, of Georgia. Read it, and blush for the men of the South who advocate such views.

"ONE OF THE SAINTS."—The public, generally, know who Col. Wm. F. Henderson, of Davidson, commonly called "Windy Billy," is. He figured largely in the recent Jacobin Convention in this city, as one of the most vindictive and violent "orators" of that precious assemblage. He has been lauded to the skies by portions of the Radical press, and been coupled with Brownlow in the catalogue of "glorious patriots." It is even said that he is the favorite candidate of some of them for Governor of North Carolina, under the "reconstructed" State!

We learn that, at Davidson Court, in session the present week, this same patriot was indicted by the Grand Jury for horse-stealing! The Grand Jury consisted of eleven Radicals, four negroes, and three Conservative citizens. We further learn that Henderson, thereupon, came into Court and himself requested that his name should be stricken from the list of Attorneys!

It is said that he will also be indicted for perjury for having taken the test oath, as Sub-Commissioner of the Freedman's Bureau. No wonder that our honest, well-meaning citizens are leaving a party, where a man like Henderson is recognized as a leader.

THE NEWBERN Republican, seeing the popular odium which has been excited against the late Jacobin Convention, on account of its ultra and violent temper and doings, disclaims any desire for confiscation, further disabilities, &c. Very well; better late than never; "while the lamp holds out," &c. But why did the Convention reject the resolutions of the Committee on the Platform, and thus refuse to commit the party against extreme and proscriptive measures? There's the rub.

THE BLACK MAN'S PARTY.

The Radicals claim that the colored people of this State will all vote with the Radical party. We do not believe this. We believe that the respectable colored people of the State—those who think, and who take counsel from the white people they have known all their lives to be good, honest men,—will not vote with the Radicals, when they see their designs. It is, however, necessary, in order to prevent their entire coalition with the Radicals, that Conservative men should take some pains to instruct them. We hope this will be done.—We should be glad, if they are so disposed, for really conservative colored people, those who desire peace and concord and the prosperity of all classes in the State, to sustain Conservative men and Conservative measures. We counsel them to have nothing to do with secret political organizations, and to oppose by all means a Black Man's party.

We have already shown that if the blacks of the State all become Radicals, that will constitute a Black Man's party, and, leaving the whites generally to themselves, must necessitate a White Man's party. This we should much regret, for the sake of the colored people and their future prosperity. We know that the ambitious designs and the inflated pride of some of them will prove their overthrow, and that none will be so bitter against them, when they do fall, as their now pretended friends. Custom and law, heretofore, in this country, have maintained, that a white boy, however intelligent at 12, or 16, or 20, (though it has been the custom of our white boys to study politics, and take sides in politics, from the time they are 12 years old,) is not qualified to vote. The law demands that he shall be fully 21 years old, after a pupilage of 9 or 10 years in politics, before he can vote.—The law requires that every white foreigner, no matter how intelligent, shall not vote until he has had five years residence and given notice of his intention to become a citizen. What is all this probation of the whites for? Is it not to qualify them to vote or hold office? Now, we admit that there are intelligent and upright colored men in the South, who are qualified to give a vote.—But how many? Is there one in a hundred? Are they not, as a race, in the condition described by a sensible, honest colored man, who told us the other day, "my race, as a people, are yet but children in knowledge and judgment. They don't know what is best for them, or how to discharge the high duties of citizenship." Every sensible, honest colored man knows this. Why, then, should they be deluded and misled by designing men?

JOHN QUINCY ADAMS.

We observe that the State Democratic Convention of Massachusetts has nominated this gentleman as their candidate for Governor of the State. He is the son of Hon. Charles Adams, Minister to England, and grand son of the late Ex-President John Quincy Adams. He inherits the talents of his grand-father and is one of the ablest men of New England. He is a Constitutional Union man and a Conservative.—When the Adamses co-operate with the Northern Democracy, it is evidence enough of the dangers which are apprehended to the government, from the further success of the Radical party. The ablest expositions we have seen upon reconstruction, and the present dangers to the Constitution and the government, have come from the younger Adams. It was but the echo of the voices of the elder John Quincy Adams, Daniel Webster and Henry Clay. Whether it is possible for Massachusetts to throw off the incubus of fanaticism and elect a truly great man, instead of her pedants and demagogues, remains to be seen.

POOR TENNESSEE!—The people of Tennessee appeal to the Federal authorities to protect them from the violent course of the Brownlow government. The matter is referred to General Thomas, and the old municipal authorities of Nashville are ousted by military force and the Brownlow authorities are put in. We presume, however, it is all under the shadow of the law. If so, why contend? Quiet submission to law, however iniquitous and unjust, is the only road to peace. Tennessee is a reconstructed State, a truly "loyal" State, "with a Republican form of government," as the Radicals say, and yet her people appeal to the Federal government for protection! What a comment upon Republican institutions!

THE PROSPECT of a Radical defeat is becoming so threatening in Ohio, that Mr. Chase, Chief-Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, has been compelled to make his appearance on the field of battle. His arrival has been duly announced in the Cincinnati papers, and from this until the election the Radical forces are to manœuvre under the shadow of the judicial ermine.—How are the mighty fallen!

ONE ALDEN, Radical, has been elected the Brownlow Mayor of Nashville. Just before the election, he "bought" a lot from Henry Harding, colored, as a temporary qualification for holding office. Fifty creditors, embracing boarding-house keepers, tradesmen, &c., have already swooped down upon it, while Harding swears that he only "made believe" to transfer the property, and was to "get it back!"

THE PUBLIC mind was lately startled by the announcement that the registration returns for Georgia showed a majority of only about 1900 white voters in the State—the report being, Whites 95,303, Blacks 93,417. It will be still more surprised by the fact that, according to Gen. Pope's apportionment, the 95,303 whites have majorities in districts electing only 65 delegates to the Convention, while the 93,417 blacks have majorities in districts electing 102 delegates. Says the Columbus Enquirer:

"This is the fact, and it seems to us to be the finishing blow to a race doomed by radical hate to subjugation and inferiority."

DEATH OF A CONFEDERATE OFFICER.—Captain Benjamin Huger, son of Gen. Huger, C. S. A., died at Baltimore on the 27th ult. He was a gallant and esteemed officer.

MASSACHUSETTS.

The late Democratic State Convention in Massachusetts was an imposing and enthusiastic affair. About one thousand delegates were present.

The adjoined excellent resolutions, among others adopted on the occasion, have the ring of the old constitutional metal:

Resolved, That each State in the Union is free, sovereign and independent, and entitled to exercise and enjoy every power, jurisdiction and right which is not expressly delegated to the General Government in the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved, That the burdens imposed upon the people through an absurd system of taxation and a vast expenditure of money for the support of a corrupt and extravagant administration of the General Government, and to meet the expense of a large standing army, demand our serious consideration and a speedy reform, that taxation may fall equally on property and labor.

Resolved, That those members of Congress who have passed laws outside of and in defiance of the Constitution, for the purpose of enforcing the civil to the military power, have trifled with the safeguards of justice, liberty and peace, and are guilty of perjury and usurpation.

It has already been stated that the Hon. Jno. Quincy Adams was nominated as the candidate of the party for Governor.

The following capital address by the President of the Convention, on assuming the duties of the chair, deserves the space which we here devote to it:

GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION—I thank you for this compliment, and, in the name of the conservative men of Massachusetts, I welcome you here to-day. In the name of the conservative men of Massachusetts I thank you for this representation of their sentiments to-day. The country stands in need of healing Christian principles. The people need to have it strongly impressed upon them that anger is not patriotism; that to incite sectional hatred in the bosoms of the people is not statesmanship; to learn that great lesson which was taught us by all the fathers, that the first step towards loving our country is to love our countrymen. The hour and the day alike give us cause for anxiety, if not cause for alarm.

We are all aware that there is a great party in the country known as the party of moral ideas—(laughter)—and that the other day, in the Empire State, that party of moral ideas, in convention, declared that the laws should not recognize a Divinely appointed Sabbath, and that they should be amended so as not to recognize the Sunday of our fathers and of our God. Now, we are not here to profess moral principles and to prate about moral ideas. We think that that other great party has a little overdone that business, and won't attempt to follow them in that direction. But we have this to say, we know that we are under the laws of God or we are fools, and we know that that sentiment of the republican party of New York was worthy only of the days of red republicanism in France; further, that no people ever ignored the Sunday in their laws. We know that no nation on the earth, since that day when the finger of God graved that Fourth Commandment on the stone, amid the thunders, has ever disregarded it without coming to the bad. The other day, this great party of moral ideas met in convention here, and what was their declaration to their people and followers? "You may maintain any principle, you may advocate any ideas, you may think just what you please, you shall still be counted among the faithful, if, on election day, you will vote our ticket." If such, friends and countrymen, is the position of the party with great moral ideas, I ask it it is not worth while to-day to make an honest effort for a party with moral practices. Par amount among these moral practices we need honor, honesty and integrity in the management of our financial affairs. We know how burdened the people of this country are with debt; but we proudly point to the history of our party, and say that though it never incurred but few debts it always paid all there were. (Applause.) To-day we acknowledge that debt in all its sacredness, and declare that, in order to pay it, all property must be taxed.

Not less than this, but very much greater, we say that among the honest practices handed down by our fathers, was that of justice at hand, convenient to every man, easily attained, and easily reached; for ages ago it was declared that "justice delayed is often as bad as justice denied," and now here, that justice may be cheaply attained, may be prompt, may be ready, may be in the hands of every man at home, you have got to preserve sacred and inviolate every State right that is not plainly surrendered to the general government. We want these things for ourselves here at home. Massachusetts plants herself on these rights, and I have heard man after man declare—and trust it is true—that Massachusetts has never yet tolerated an arbitary arrest upon her borders. (Applause.) What we claim for ourselves, we willingly concede as a right to the citizen of every State, from the Canadas to the Gulf, from the Atlantic to the Pacific. This is the great thing we must remember, that the powers given to the general government must be undisturbed and uninterfered with, or bloodshed will be the consequence; but just as sacred, just as inviolate, just as necessary for the interests of freedom and for peace, it is that we maintain all rights for ourselves and for our countrymen throughout the wide domain of our whole republic that are not thus conceded. (Applause.) When by moral practices, incited by moral ideas, we can secure that great boon and blessing, which once was in every man's hand, throughout the whole extent of our territory, then once again will we raise our eyes with that old affection and that old pride upon the colors of the republic, waving over the land at peace, and over a people virtuous, free and intelligent, and honored and respected by every nation of the earth.

IN NEW ARCHANGEL, the village capital of the new American possessions recently purchased from Russia, business is active and building lots have advanced several hundred dollars. We are further informed that there is coin in circulation, but that leather money predominates. The Copper river country is said to be rich in gold, copper and coal, but the savages are very hostile and warlike. When it is not foggy it rains at New Archangel, but the reports from there praise the weather very much, and the scanty population of Russian Finns and Germans are represented as very glad to be annexed.

Two Freedmen, at the Theatre, last night demanded tickets for the Parquette and Dress circle. St Maur refused them—they insisted upon knowing by whose authority he denied them that right, and the Professor referred them to the commanding officer of this place. Colonel Frank told the Professor, should such a case be brought before him, he would have no other discretion, under existing orders, than to refer it for decision to the General commanding the District. We anticipate no trouble on this score.—Wilmington Star.

Governor Sharkey, of Mississippi, is out with an eight column letter reviewing the reconstruction measures, and recommending the people of his State to go against a convention.

ATROCIOUS SENTIMENTS.

The Radical party of to-day is as turbulent and revolutionary an element as that which brought Charles I. to the block or Louis XVI. to the guillotine. Unless they should be checked in their madness and violence, by the sober and stern rebuke of the people of the North,—upon whom rests the responsibility,—we can see nothing before us but anarchy and ruin.

Schuyler Colfax, Speaker of the House of Representatives, recently made a speech at Wooster, Ohio. Foreshadowing the Radical programme, that the President was to be surely impeached, and that, as soon as the articles were presented, he was to be considered "under arrest" and ousted from the Executive Office, he made the threat that if the President should resist this unheard off and infamous proceeding, "he would be hung ed!" This from a man who might possibly, in the event of the removal of the President, himself become the Executive of the Nation!

Again, at a Radical Convention, in Luzerne County, Pennsylvania, held at Wilkesbarre, on the 12th instant, Hon. G. A. Grow, ex-Speaker of the House of Representatives, made a long and vehement harangue, in which he said:

"It has been said by an old writer, "Let me write the songs of a nation, and I care not who makes their laws. So, I say to you, let me appoint your judges, and I care not who frames your laws!"

That such a vile sentiment did not receive the hisses it merited, is a sad commentary upon the demoralization of the times. It would seem as if the natural instincts of any assemblage of American freemen would have revolted against so coarse and plain a statement of the tyrannical aim of the Radical leaders, to put only men in office committed to enforce Radical principles and serve Radical purposes.

"Never again in Virginia will there be such an opportunity for the highest usefulness offered to our public speakers as now. Never were such vital issues thrust upon the people before, and never were the efforts of our leaders more needed than at present, in every county of the State.

For nearly two years the white men of Virginia have been the victims of the most widespread misrepresentation and deliberate calumny. Without opposition or refutation, the worst renegades ever brought to the surface by civil war have been poisoning the minds of those who were lately our slaves. Secretly and openly the work has been going on, with results which are now painfully apparent. The laborers upon our farms and our domestic servants have been insidiously and systematically taught to distrust and band together against us.—Stupefied by defeat, we have permitted this work of organization, having for its object our perpetual political vassalage, to go on, without opposing to it any counter organization whatever. Apathy, the twin brother of Despair, seems to have chained us down and bound us hand, foot and tongue, since 1865. Radicalism, during all this time, has been active, impudent and utterly unscrupulous in its preparations for victory."

Every word of the foregoing, which we clip from the Richmond Enquirer, is as applicable to North Carolina as to Virginia.

The ability, intelligence and virtue of the State are arrayed against the fell purposes of Radicalism. It is not enough that they are silently so arrayed. Every man in the State, who has the slightest experience in public-speaking, owes it to himself, his children and his country, to address the people upon every practicable occasion and arouse them to a sense of their danger and their duty.

[From the Buffalo Commercial Advertiser, September 25.]

COLORED CHILDREN EJECTED FROM THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS IN BUFFALO.

For a time past a degree of excitement has been occasioned in some of the public schools on account of the fact that a number of colored children insisted upon attending, and remained despite the efforts of the teachers to compel them to leave. Recently, a petition by colored people, asking permission to send their children to other schools than that set apart for them, was referred to the Common Council Committee on Schools; the Committee reported that the Council had no authority to grant the permission asked, and the report was adopted. Notwithstanding this action the parents of the children continued to send them to the schools, and yesterday Superintendent Fosdick went to Districts Nos. 11 and 12 and ordered the colored children to leave. This they refused to do, when they were ejected. This morning the colored children in No. 32 were also ejected by the Superintendent.—It is understood that Mr. Fosdick has adopted this course in pursuance of the action of the Council, and it is rumored that the parties considering themselves aggrieved threaten to have him arrested and arraigned before the United States Court under the Civil Rights Bill. The school set apart for colored children, on Vine Street, will accommodate two hundred, we are told, though the average daily attendance is only about forty five.

Under Radical policy, the South can never be settled up; it may only become the scene of a miserable conflict between the two races. Instead of immigration all who can get away will go away. They will not risk themselves or their families in a land where Radical political leaders proudly boast they have "organized a hell." The door to all that broad fertile country is now closed.—Indeed, the black man does not want the free laborer of the North as a competitor.—The latter is hardy, thrifty, and industrious, not seeking a farm by confiscation, but by honest toil, and when he enters the South the empire of the African must give way; and this the latter knows, even by instinct. It is for the freemen of the North, burdened with taxes, to say how long they will allow the Radical policy and the negro to shut them out from the South. It is for them to say in the coming election whether the South shall be opened to white immigration or remain closed by anarchy and negro rule. They have much at stake in this business, for never was there a land more fertile, more inviting, nearer to market, or more calculated to reward industry and capital than the land which it is deliberately proposed to give over to the negro.—Nat. Intel.

CHIEF JUSTICE CHASE ON WOMAN'S SUFFRAGE.—In a recent conversation with Lucy Stone, Mr. Chase said: "Be free to say from me that I think there will be no end to the good that will come by woman's suffrage; on the elected, on elections, on government and on woman herself. I have said this in public and private for many years. I am glad that an effort is making in Kansas to accomplish it, and I shall rejoice when the elective franchise shall be as free to women as it is now to men. I think, too, that this will be at no distant day."

GENERAL GRANT THE RADICAL CANDIDATE.—The intelligent and well-informed correspondent of the Baltimore Gazette says:

"The newspapers at a distance have been puzzled at the 'position' of General Grant. I can relieve that anxiety. He is now substantially the Radical candidate for the next Presidency. The leaders of the party which aims at usurping the Government, who have in squads been visiting at intervals the metropolis ever since the emeute of Stanton's removal, some time ago came to the conclusion, in view of their probable defeat in the coming elections, to keep Grant in the back ground for the present. He was anxious to promulge a written adhesion to the dogmas of the Destructives at once. I have specific information that this Goliah is reserved to break the force of the defeat which awaits the party, and that he has promised Schenck, Logan, Washburn, Farnsworth, etc., who have been recently manipulating him, to come out with his "great name" upon the heel of their discomfiture."

The same writer states that it is reported "on higher authority than Presidential assurances" that Secretary Seward and Minister Adams are soon to change places, and that it is certain that Grant will shortly vacate his post at the War Department. "Specific charges of a grave character" are also said to be pending against Mr. McCulloch.

NEW BASE-BALL CLUB.—A few days since a young lady "from the country" was seated at a window up town, when her attention was attracted by the passing of the chain-gang as they marched along with ball and chain. She immediately inquired if it was a base ball club. A gentleman friend replied that it certainly was not the Pastime, as carrying an iron ball was anything but an amusement.—Richmond Dispatch.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.—To Mule-raisers,—a fine Jack for sale: Stephen Miller, Kinston, N. C.

Mitchell, Allen & Co.: Builders' Materials, Mechanics' Tools.

W. H. Crow, Esq., General Agent of the Ætna Life Insurance Co., presents the advantages of the Ten Years Non-Forfeiting Endowment Policies. These constitute a most admirable feature of the Ætna Insurance economy, which cannot be too heartily commended. For details, we refer the reader to the lucid statement of Mr. Crow.

Five thousand bushels B. E., Clay and Black Peas wanted: Pulliam, Jones & Co. Fayetteville Street.

J. Brown (with Hart & Lewis) advertises a variety of articles in his line for the Fall trade.

For rent, in the Western Ward, a convenient and comfortable residence: C. J. Iredell, National Bank.

GROCERIES, &c.—We observe that W. Robert Andrews is receiving his Fall supplies of Groceries and Household Notions. His stock is very extensive and suited to his large custom.

MAYOR'S COURT.—Simon Person, colored, charged with assaulting Emily Person, colored, was returned to the Superior Court.

Private John Lewis, 40th. U. S. Infantry, arrested for being in the City without a pass, and representing himself to be a citizen,—being dressed in citizen's clothes,—was lodged in the guard house and turned over to the military authorities.

Private Henry Bell, 40th. U. S. Infantry, arrested for being in the City without a pass, having transferred his pass to Peter Walker, 40th. U. S. Infantry, contrary to military orders, was lodged in the Guard House and turned over to the military authorities.

WE LEARN that it is the purpose of the Hon. Thomas Settle to define his position, at Forsythe Court, next week. He is utterly opposed to the vindictive ultra-Radicals, and, it is said, will so declare himself unmistakably.

THE MECHANICS.—The Governor issued, on yesterday, to Jeremiah Spellman, Wm. T. Daniels, and others, of Wilmington, letters patent, creating them a body corporate, under the name of the "Mechanics' Aid and Protection Association," for the purpose of aiding each other in securing employment, and educating their children.

We are glad to see this movement among the mechanics. The example should be followed in all our towns and cities. These Associations should always be controlled by men of large, liberal views, who, while laboring to protect the interests of one branch of industry, should also look to the prosperity of all classes. Our mechanics and artisans build up our towns and cities, whenever their plans are liberal and are considerate of the general good. Cannot the mechanics of Raleigh do something?—Can they not break the present system of apprenticeship, and inaugurate a plan which requires more thorough training in order to constitute masters of all trades. Our mechanics can never be thoroughly instructed or skilled in any vocation among us, until there is a change in the requirements of those who aspire to be master mechanics, before they have served a full apprenticeship.

THE HENDERSON FAIR.—It will be seen, by the following letter from the Superintendent of the North Carolina Railroad Co, that not only will all persons intending to visit the Fair at Henderson, be transported for half fare, but that all articles designed for the exhibition, under certain restrictions, will be carried free of charge:

OFFICE N. C. RAILROAD CO., Company Shops, N. C., Oct. 3rd.

P. E. A. Jones, Esq., Henderson, N. C.:

Yours to our President is received. The custom of this Company, in such cases as you refer to, is to carry all passengers going to any Agricultural Fair for one rate, giving them a return ticket free.

All goods intended for exhibition are carried free to and fro, unless sold to another party, in which case the usual rates for freights are charged. This custom will be adhered to in the present case.

Our President is absent in New York, but will return this week, and I have no doubt will take pleasure in joining you at the coming Fair.

Respectfully Yours,
JAS. ANDERSON, Sup't.

PROVOST COURTS.—The following is the Circular, just issued from District Headquarters, modifying previous orders relating to "Provost Courts":

CIRCULAR.

Pending the establishment of rules for the government of Military Tribunals in this District, Provost Courts will not exercise jurisdiction in any case when the question involves the title of land; nor in any civil cause where the debt sued for or the damage claimed exceeds three hundred dollars (300). In all cases where the amount claimed either as debt or damages exceeds twenty five dollars (25), the defendant shall be entitled to ten (10) days' notice, and if it exceeds one hundred dollars ($100), he shall be entitled to fifteen (15) days' notice; but this right may be waived by the defendant, and the trial of the cause set for an earlier day upon his written consent thereto, which consent must appear on the record of the court.

By Command of Bvt. Major General Ed. R. S. CANBY:

LOUIS V. CAZIARC,
Aide-de-Camp, Act. Asst. Adjt. Genl.

A WORD FOR NEWSPAPERS.—We clip the following article from an exchange:

"Nothing is more common than to hear people talk of what they pay newspapers for advertising, etc., as so much given in charity. Newspapers, by enhancing the value of property in their neighborhoods, and giving the localities in which they are published a reputation abroad, benefit all such, particularly if they are merchants or real estate owners, three the amount yearly of the meagre sum which they pay for their support. Besides, every public spirited citizen has a laudable pride in having a paper which he is not ashamed of, even though he should pick it up in New York or Washington. A good looking thriving sheet helps to sell property, gives character to the locality; in all respects is a desirable public convenience. If, from any cause, the matter in the local or editorial columns should not be quite up to your standard, do not cast it aside and pronounce it of no account, until you are satisfied that there has not been no more labor bestowed upon it than is paid for. If you want a good, readable sheet, it must be supported. And it must not be supported in a spirit of charity either, but because you feel a necessity to support it."

TOMFOOLERY.—The trousseau of a lady about to figure as bride at a grand wedding in Farmington, Connectient, is on exhibition at New York. The wedding dress consists of the heaviest white satin, made with high corsage, gored skirt, and coat sleeve trimmed with fine point lace; lace veil to match. One of the reception dresses is made of canary colored moire antique, with a berthe of satin, same color, trimmed with black Chantilly lace. Another robe is of lavender-colored silk, trimmed with white point lace, headed with white satin. A breakfast jacket is made of scarlet cloth, elaborately embroidered with black silk braid, and profusely studded with jet beads. The bride's travelling dress consists of brown Irish poplin, trimmed with cross bands of brown silk, about one inch wide; tight-fitting sacque, the seams of which are colored with brown satin.

HOW CONGRESSMAN SHANKS THREATENS MARYLAND AND KENTUCKY.—Congress does not intend to back down from its position. It is as much determined now as when the first gun was fired on Sumpter in 1861. At the coming session Congress will say to Maryland: "Every male citizen in your limits shall vote—Baltimore shall cease to be a city of riots, and no longer shall you lord it over the poor whites and blacks."

Kentucky, too, is fast bringing on the same thing. The ballot will be given to her whites and blacks. Her people have insulted the nation by electing rebels to make laws for the loyal. Her Congressmen, save one, were sent back to her.—Speech at Petersburg.

At an election in Charleston not long since, the post-office boxes were found to be filled with ballots deposited by the negroes, who had been supplied with them by Radical agents, but knew not how to dispose of them better than by dropping into the post-office. To such a measure of intelligence it is that the affairs of the South are entrusted, and this the people are asked to endorse as one of the most efficient modes of reconstruction, according to the Radical plan. We are disposed to think that the intelligent American people do not see it in that light.—N. Y. Herald.

SOUTHERN SENTIMENT PROSCRIBED.—It is stated here that a number of young Washingtonians, who have never served in the Union army, but whose sympathies were with the South during the war, have been appointed officers in the regular army by the President, in direct violation of the laws. This is a matter for the committees of Senator Wilson and General Schenck to examine into at the next session of Congress.—Wash. Cor. N. Y. Tribune, Sept. 30th.

European meteorologists are predicting an early and hard winter this year, for the reason that the birds of passage have begun their migration Southward at least a month earlier than usual. Storks, wild ducks, and other birds, are reported to be passing Southwards over France and Belgium in large numbers.

NEGROES IN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.—In Springsboro', Warren County, O., where the school directors are all Radicals, seventeen negro children have been placed in the public schools, and sandwiched between the children of poor white parentage. The children of the directors and wealthy Radicals are sent to a select subscription school.

REVOLUTION.—A bill providing for suspension from office of all public officers who may have been impeached, until they have been tried, will undoubtedly be introduced and passed early in the session of Congress, says a Washington telegram in the New York Times.

The bar of Washington have resolved that Mr. Bradley's name was illegally stricken from the roll of lawyers.

No unnecessary delay, in the preparation of the jury lists, will be allowed.

Judge Abel, counsel for Henry Smith, accused of perjury, filed an exception yesterday to the case being tried before Assistant Recorder Dunn, of the Second District Court. Dunn is a negro lately elected by the new Council. Judge Abel in the exception, sets forth that Dunn, being a negro, was unrecognized by the laws of Louisiana as a citizen; hence, not legally an officer of justice. Dunn overruled the exception, tried the case and discharged the prisoner. The prosecuting witness, who refused to take the stand or be sworn while a negro was acting Recorder, was asked if he intended to insult the Court. He replied that he did, and was fined twenty-five dollars.

And I can say, with safety, that I have one among the largest and most complete stocks that has ever been brought to this City, either before or since the war,—embracing almost any and everything suitable for Ladies' and Gentlemen's wear.

CALICOES, 10, 12½, 15, and 18 cents per yard.
FRENCH MERINOS, 75 cts. to $1,25 per yard.
DELAINES, POPLINS, and a great variety of other Dress Goods, embracing all the new novelties of the season, and will be sold cheap enough to insure sales.
BROWN DOMESTICS, 12½, 15 and 20 cts. per yard.
BLEACHED DOMESTICS, 12½, 15, 20 and 25 cts. per yard, and all other goods in proportion.
Also, the largest and most varied stock of

CLOTHS,
CASSIMERES,
SATINETS,
TWEEDS, AND KENTUCKY JEANS

I ever offered to the trade in this City, both as to price and quality.

Also a very fine assortment of White and Colored FLANNELS,

LADIES' CLOAKS,
BREAKFAST SHAWLS,
SQUARE AND LONG SHAWLS,

which will be sold at prices to suit my customers.

Ladies', Misses' and Children's TRIMMED AND UNTRIMMED HATS,—new styles, from 50 cents to $4,00 each.

Boots and Shoes, Boots and Shoes.

The largest and best stock I ever brought to the City, consisting, in part, of J. Miles & Sons' make, and others of equally high standing.

Ladies' Pegged Balmorals, from $1 to $2.
Ladies Sewed Balmorals, from $1,50 to $3,50.

CREECH'S is the place to come to buy your Boots and Shoes.

Hats, Hats, Hats,

From 75 cts. to $4,00. Don't stop until you come to CREECH'S to buy your Hats. In fact, I think I can meet the expectations of all my customers and the public generally, both as to price and quality of ALL Goods.

Now a few words to my customers and friends: You see a great many different styles of advertisements. Some say they are in "luck again;" some say they have "hit the nail on the head;" some "selling out at cost;" some to "make room for a new stock;" some one thing and some another. But allow me to say, whether I am in luck, or whether I hit the nail on the head, or whether I missed the nail entirely, or failed to advertise "selling out at cost," I have sold out my old stock, (while they are still hammering away over their old stock,) and have been North and bought a new stock. My goods are now in Store, and opened for inspection.

COME AND LOOK AT THEM.

I told my customers, six months ago, that I would sell goods as cheap as Yankee, Jew or Gentile, and I think I have made my word good.

I told the people to come to Creech's to buy their goods, that I would serve them right. Hundreds have come, and they are still coming from this and adjoining Counties. And I here take the privilege to say, I think they have shown their good judgment.

Don't forget to come to

A. CREECH'S,

DAILY SENTINEL.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1867.

BEHIND THE MASK.

BY MRS. ADELAIDE D. T. WHITNEY.

It was an old distorted face—
An uncouth visage, rough and wild;
Yet from behind, with laughing grace,
Peeped the fresh beauty of a child.

And so contrasting, fair and bright,
It made me of my fancy ask
If half earth's wrinkled grimness might
Be but the baby in the mask.

Behind gray hairs and furrowed brow,
And withered look that life puts on,
Each, as he wears it, comes to know
How the child hides, and is not gone.

For, while the inexorable years
To saddened features fit their mould,
Beneath the work of time and tears
Waits something that will not grow old!

And pain and petulance and care,
And wasted hope and sinful stain,
Shape the strange guise the soul doth wear,
Till her young life looks forth again.

The beauty of the boyhood's smile—
What human faith could find it now
In yonder man of grief and guile—
A very Cain, with branded brow?

Yet, overlaid and hidden, still
It lingers—of his life a part;
As the scathed pine upon the hill
Holds the young fibres at its heart.

And, haply, round the Eternal Throne,
Heaven's pitying angels shall not ask
For that last look the world hath known,
But for the face behind the mask!

BULWER, CARLYLE AND DICKENS.

In a late German work, Weiter and Weiter, we find the following interesting gossip on several literary celebrities of England:

"Bulwer lives in his beautiful villa in Fulham, a quiet, lonely villa above London. A tranquility, disturbed by nothing, reigns in the house. Notwithstanding the warm spring day, Bulwer sits near the fireplace, where a bright coal fire is burning. Outside the branches of a cherry tree, covered with an exuberance of blossoms, hang down on the window, and the low, chirping notes of the birds penetrate into the room. The celebrated author—a tall, slender form, wrapped in a sky-blue, soft-lined, silken morning-gown, which is fastened with a strong cord around the waist—sits at his large empty table, and has before him only a blank book, in which he writes his new novels. His large, light blue eyes cast longing glances out of the window; his auburn hair flows in ringlets down on his high, narrow forehead; the large, slender nose hangs over his small mouth, and his red whiskers fall from his long and narrow chin on his breast. The whole face looks decidedly too long. He has a sickly appearance, and is abstracted. His family affairs are at the bottom of his melancholy, which no one can fail to perceive. His little daughter died; his son, the heir to the baronetcy, is estranged from him; and his wife, Lady Bulwer, has long since been separated from him, and lives in the city.

"Let us enter her room. She sits at her writing table, for she is likewise at work upon a novel. Her corpulent form, her round face, her radiant deep-blue eyes, her raven hair, everything forms a striking contrast with the appearance of her husband. She contemplates the portrait of her son; she charges her husband with being another Lovelace, and refusing to pay his debts. Her large eyes look at us languidly; her full cheeks contain a number of dimples, such as Reubens liked to paint; her lips are still as swelling, fresh and red, as those of Titian's daughters, and yet she is much over forty. On thinking of this our suspicions are aroused; the crimson on her cheeks is too fragrant; the heavy braids surmounting her forehead are too black; her manners are decidedly too kind and polite, and cannot be sincere—we escape from her, bearing in mind the bleeding heart of her melancholy husband, and the mournful tone of his novels.

"But let us pass on. We reach another quiet village, Chelsea. On the lawn, in one of the small gardens, sits Scotland's celebrated author, Thos. Carlyle. He has a book on his knees, and gazes thoughtfully into vacancy. His is a dry, gaunt form; he wears a morning gown and cap, and draws heavy clouds of smoke from his short clay pipe. He is the Diogenes of Chelsea. If you converse with him he is at first dry and laconic. He conducts you then to the pretty sitting-room of his wife.

"Mrs. Carlyle is a lively, pleasant creature, and a world of thought beams from her dark eyes. She has learned a great deal; her father gave her a most profound education, and she is possessed of a keen, yet mild judgment, of which her husband himself is afraid. But there she sits now, sewing with her handsome fingers a new cravat for her Diogenes. She wears an elegant morning costume. In these surroundings we begin to feel at ease. The portraits of Goethe, young and old, and Jean Paul are looking down upon us. Carlyle becomes talkative and witty, and displays his whole famous eloquence. But he is decidedly one-sided. You like to listen to him, but you must beware of interrupting him. He resembles a clear-sounding bell; you touch it and it resounds, but only to itself. Nevertheless, we Germans are always well at ease in Carlyle's presence, for if there is an Englishman who esteems and reveres our poets, it is Carlyle.

"Let us go now to Charles Dickens. There are several aristocratic carriages and plain hacks in front of his elegant residence, where a numerous party is assembled. The celebrated romancist has returned from an extended trip to Switzerland and Genoa, and gives to-night a soiree, such as are the order of the day, at his hospitable house. He is blonde, his eyes are light blue, his face flushed with wine, neither meagre nor round, but brimful of good humor and kind-heartedness. He is conversing with two ladies who cannot refrain from bursting into loud laughter. You can tell at once, on looking at this face, which is by no means expressive in itself, when Dickens describes, recites, or satirizes. Dickens is precisely as he writes—lively, sanguine, a bon vivant, now in a poetical mood, now observing, and all seemingly superficially, and yet what a deep heart is concealed under this restless surface! If it is said that the currents of the world are injurious to genius, Dickens' example proves the contrary, for his creations spring from the observations of life; he would be nothing without seeing, observing and living with what he beholds.

"In former times his wife, a stately lady, was to be seen on such occasions. Her black eyes, her full form, her measured conduct, were in striking contrast with those of her husband, and we regret to say the quarrel which disturbed their relations and their happiness after a blissful wedded life of many years has not yet been settled. They are not yet reconciled. The husband drowns his cares in his literary activity, and the noisy bustle of the world."

COTTON GIN HORSE POWERS.

WE BEG LEAVE TO INVITE THE ATTENTION OF COTTON PLANTERS TO OUR

IMPROVED EIGHT-FEET STATIONARY POWER.

FOR

DRIVING COTTON GINS.

It is SIMPLE, STRONG and COMPACT, and can be easily put together. We sold a large number last season and the demand is constantly increasing.

The following letter from Col. Hood, of Surry County, speaks for itself:

* * * * * It is with much pleasure that I state, your Gin Horse Power bought last season proved an entire success.

I applied a 13 feet lever and 6 feet band wheel to a 45 saw Gin, and one pair of ordinary mules which improved on constant work, and with slow gait of team gave sufficiency of speed; a capacity to gin about 4,000 per day.

The wear and tear in ginning 60 bales of cotton is not perceivable—do not think it could be estimated at 2 per cent. It was put up and geared by one of the best machinists in the State, who pronounced it superior to any patent he had seen; also, several gentlemen familiar by long use of gins, have examined it and decided to lay aside their old powers and order this pattern of you.

Yours, most respectfully, WM. H. HOOD.

RAILROADS.

ATLANTIC & N. C. RAILROAD
AND
GRAND TRUNK RAILROAD,

From Charlotte and all Points on the N. Carolina and its Connecting Railroads, to the Seaboard at Newbern and Morehead City.

THE STATE OWNS THREE-FOURTHS OF the North Carolina Railroad and three-fourths of the ATLANTIC & N. C. RAILROAD. This is the

STATE LINE,

To its OWN SEAPORTS and on its OWN ROADS. All other lines are in opposition.

A six per cent dividend on this line will save the people from taxation $295,000 per annum.

Under a resolution of the Stockholders of the N. C. Railroad, all Freights are to go via Goldsboro', unless otherwise specially directed by shippers.

When at Goldsboro', you are only sixty miles from the shipping point, instead of one hundred and sixty via Weldon, and eighty via Wilmington. Our Steamers are equal to any other line, both for Freight and Travel. Time as short as by any other, and as cheap.

THIS is the Line

To ENCOURAGE. You get dispatch, safety, but one handling, and less Railroad transportation than by any other line.

Three-fourths of the PROFITS made on this line go directly into the STATE TREASURY, and if encouraged, you will soon be relieved from heavy taxation at least two hundred and ninety-five thousand dollars.

The Railroads composing the N. C. GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY LINE have recently agreed to unite in a

GREAT THROUGH LINE

A Cheap Cotton Press.

FARMERS, BEFORE YOU BUY A PRESS OR build a Screw, enquire into the merits of the

GODWIN COTTON PRESS.

Hear what the following reliable gentlemen say:

I have seen Mr. J. H. Godwin's Cotton Press work at Mr. P. E. Smith's plantation, and it does all that he says it does in his advertisement, and more. I think it superior to any other mode of packing Cotton, and saves both time and labor.
W. R. SMITH.

I have used the above mentioned Press, and consider it the best I ever saw for packing Cotton.
THOS. J. VAUGHAN.

I have packed about 100 bales of Cotton with Mr. J. H. Godwin's Cotton Press, and take pleasure in recommending it to the farmers as a great labor-saving machine. It does not cost more than half as much as a Screw, and is worth twice as much.

It is so convenient, and takes fewer hands to do as much work as a Screw. I would pay the price of a Press rather than allow a man to put up a screw on my place for nothing.
D. EDMONDSON.

I have used the above mentioned Cotton Press, and it does better than a Screw. Takes less hands, does not waste Cotton, and is much cheaper.
J. H. CURRY,
Sup't W. H. Smith's Plantation.

I have packed about 70 bales with Godwin's Cotton Press, and am certain it is the best, cheapest, most compact and durable Press in existence, costing only half, at first, and lasting twice as long as a Screw.
PETER E. SMITH.

I have never seen the Cotton Press of Mr. Jno. H. Godwin at work, but have no doubt, from the certificates of the gentlemen above, that it performs all they say of it. I know them to be gentlemen of character and veracity, and that their statements are entitled to credit.
RICHARD H. SMITH.

The last name is one of our most honorable and respectable citizens, well known as a former member of the Legislature. I offer this PRESS as combining more advantages for packing than any now in use; it is adapted to large or small farms, and is so simple and cheap, that any good mechanic can build it. It is well adapted to

WATER-POWER.

It is 10 or 11 feet wide, 3 feet and 3 inches thick; top of frame above ground, 16 feet; highest point of Lever, 18 or 19 feet. The platform on which the bale is turned out, is 10 feet above ground.

Length of box, 10 feet in the clear.

Length of bale 5 feet, by 2 feet 4 inches. Weight 500 or 600 lbs. It is put up flat against the Lint Room, thereby preventing the scattering of the Cotton and need of baskets.

The Press is chiefly built of scantlings.

The Inventor has spared no pains in his experiments to make it practicable, convenient and cheap. I charge

$25 for a Single Right.

The total cost, including cover and everything, is about $150. Much of that, farmers are not in the habit of including as cost.

I think I can sell County rights at about $10 by the hundred.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE STEVENS-SHERMAN-SHELLABARGER BILL.

AN ACT supplemental to an act entitled an act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, passed March 2, 1867, and to facilitate restoration.

Be it enacted, &c., That before the first day of September, 1867, the commanding general in each district defined by the act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States, approved March 2, 1867, shall cause a registration to be made of the male citizens of the United States, twenty-one years of age, and upwards, resident in each county or parish in the State or States included in his district, which registration will include only those persons who are qualified to vote for delegates by the act aforesaid, and who shall have taken and subscribed the following oath or affirmation:

"I, ——, do solemnly swear, or affirm, in the presence of Almighty God, that I am a citizen of the State of ——; that I have resided in said State for —— months next preceding this day, and now reside in the county of ——, or the parish of ——, in said State, as the case may be; that I am 21 years old; that I have not been disfranchised for participation in any rebellion or civil war against the United States, nor for felony committed against the laws of any State or of the United States; that I have never been a member of any State Legislature, or held any executive or judicial office in any State, and afterwards engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the United States, and given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I have never taken an oath as a member of Congress of the United States, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any State Legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any State, to support the Constitution of the United States, and afterwards engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the United States or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof; that I will faithfully support the Constitution and obey the laws of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, encourage others so to do. So help me God." which oath or affirmation may be administered by any registering officer.

Sec. 2. That after the completion of the registration hereby provided for in any State at such time and place therein as the commanding general shall appoint and direct, of which at least thirty day's public notice shall be given, an election shall be held of delegates to a convention for the purpose of establishing a constitution and civil government for such State loyal to the Union; said convention in each State, except Virginia, to consist of the same number of members as the most numerous branch of the State Legislature of such State in the year 1860, to be apportioned among the several districts, counties, or parishes of such state by the commanding general, giving to each, representation in the ratio of voters registered as aforesaid as nearly as may be. The convention in Virginia shall consist of the same number of members as represented the territory now constituting Virginia in the most numerous branch of the Legislature of said State in the year 1860, to be apportioned as aforesaid.

Sec. 3. That at such election the registered voters of each State shall vote for or against a convention to form a constitution thereof under this act. Those voting in favor of such a convention shall have written or printed on the ballots by which they vote for delegates, as aforesaid, the words "for a convention;" and those voting against such a convention shall have written or printed on such ballots the words "against a convention." The persons appointed to superintend said election, and to make return of the votes given thereat, as herein provided, shall count and make return of the votes given for and against a convention; and the commanding general, to whom the same shall have been returned, shall ascertain and declare the total vote in each State for and against a convention. If a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, then a convention shall be held, as hereinafter provided; but if a majority of said votes shall be against a convention, then no convention shall be held under this act: Provided, That such convention shall not be held unless a majority of all such registered voters shall have voted on the question of holding such convention.

Sec. 4. That the commanding general of each district shall appoint such loyal officers or persons as may be necessary, not exceeding three in each election district, in any State, to make and complete the registration, superintend the election, and make return to him of the votes, lists of voters and of the persons elected as delegates by a plurality of the votes cast at said election; and upon receiving said returns he shall open the same, ascertain the persons elected as delegates according to the returns of the officers who conducted said election, and make proclamation thereof; and if a majority of the votes given on that question shall be for a convention, the commanding general, within sixty days from the date of election, shall notify the delegates to assemble in convention at a time and place to be mentioned in the notification, and said convention, when organized, shall proceed to frame a Constitution and civil government according to the provisions of this act, and the act to which it is supplementary; and when the same shall have been so framed, said Constitution shall be submitted by the convention for ratification to the persons registered under the provisions of this act, at an election to be conducted by the officers or persons appointed by the commanding general as hereinbefore provided, and to be held after the expiration of thirty days from the date of notice thereof to be given by said convention, and the returns thereof shall be made to the commanding general of the district.

Sec. 5 That if, according to said returns, the constitution shall be ratified by a majority of the votes of the registered electors qualified as herein specified, cast at said election, at least one-half of all the registered voters voting upon the question of such ratification, the president of the convention shall transmit a copy of the same, duly certified, to the President of the United States, who shall forthwith transmit the same to Congress, if then in session, and if not in session, then immediately upon its next assembling; and if it shall moreover appear to Congress that the election was one at which all the registered and qualified electors in the State had an opportunity to vote freely and without restraint, fear or the influence of fraud, and if Congress shall be satisfied that such constitution meets the approval of a majority of the qualified electors in the State, and if the said constitution shall be declared by Congress to be in conformity with the provisions of the act to which this is supplementary, and the other provisions of said act shall have been complied with, and the said constitution shall be approved by Congress, the State shall be declared entitled to representation, and Senators and Representatives shall be admitted therefrom as herein provided.

Sec. 6. That all elections in the States mentioned in the said "Act to provide for the more efficient government of the rebel States," shall, during the operation of said act, be by ballot; and all officers making the said registration of voters and conducting said elections shall, before entering upon the discharge of their duties, subscribe an oath faithfully to perform the duties of their said office, and the oath prescribed by the act approved July 2, 1862, entitled "An act to prescribe an oath of office:" Provided, That if any person shall knowingly and falsely take and subscribe any oath in this act prescribed, such person so offending, and being thereof duly convicted, shall be subject to the pains, penalties and disabilities which by law are provided for the punishment of the crime of wilful and corrupt perjury.

Sec. 7. That all expenses incurred by the several commanding generals, or by virtue of any orders issued or appointments made by them under or by virtue of this act, shall be paid out of any moneys in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated.

Sec. 8. That the convention for each State shall prescribe the fees, salary, and compensation to be paid to all delegates and other officers, and agents herein authorized or necessary to carry into effect the purposes of this act, not herein otherwise provided for, and shall provide for the levy and collection of such taxes on the property in such State as may be necessary to pay the same.

Sec. 9. That the word "article" in the sixth section of the act to which this is supplementary shall be construed to mean "section."

THE FIRE EXTINGUISHER.

This Portable, Self-Acting Fire Engine

IS OFFERED TO THE Public as a ready, certain and speedy means of preventing LARGE CONFLAGRATIONS.

Until the invention of the

Portable, Self-Acting Fire Engine,

Fires have been met by means too slow, too late and too cumbrous. But few persons in this country have the advantage of large hand or Steam Fire Engines, and those few often suffer a total loss of their property by reason of the great length of time consumed in sending for and getting them into working order.

BUT NOT SO WITH THE FIRE EXTINGUISHER,

which, being kept charged and standing in your House, Store or Factory, is always Ready for Instant Service.

The fire can be extinguished and your property saved without loss or damage, or even an alarm of Fire.

The first few minutes of conflagration decide the fate of the property; "a little fire is quickly put out, which, being suffered, rivers cannot quench."

THE EXTINGUISHER, being very simple in its operation, and entirely self-propelling, requires no previous skill or practice to operate it, and being so light, portable and self-acting, is capable of being used in any place, by any person, male or female.

It puts out all fires, arising from whatever cause. You are saved from the immense water damage caused by large Engines.

You can effect insurance on your property

At Lower Rates,

if protected by the Extinguisher.

The Extinguisher is no humbug, as thousands of good men in Europe and America will testify.

I have already put these little Engines into some of our best Factories and largest Schools in N. C.

No House, Store, Factory or Corporation is safe without them.

The price is as nothing, compared with the protection they afford.
